

Highlights

- Changes in forest cover impact streamflow
- Careful reanalysis of existing database highlights confounding factors
- Impact on streamflow depends on area of catchment and climate
- The type of original data impacts outcomes such as paired watershed studies